Gramma's Posts

By Susan Kretchman

The headlines across all news media has my head spinning and my spiritual knees becoming tired and worn out from my incessant prayers that somehow, somewhere as I lament, will be part of God's plan—as IF He needs my help—to miraculously intervene in this crazy mixed up world of the 2000s that I—and many others—feel is out of control and headed down a slippery slope, much like an avalanche that is out of control, gaining speed with every slide, destroying everything in its path.

When I can't wrap my head or heart around the "why's" of this world, my thoughts often turn back to my Gramma Jewell, who was a bedrock of faith for our family. As I was doing some small household chores this morning, I got to thinking about social media and the things we post, mainly me, that tell others what we've accomplished...photos of family and pets...vacations at home or abroad...what kind of "posts" would my gramma have shared from her life that spanned the 1900s to the '60s? Here's a few that came to my mind...

*Got married today. He sure is a handsome fella, hard worker. He's pretty rough around the edges but my parents gave us their blessing.

*Got home from our short honeymoon today. I was so excited to begin making the old farmhouse "ours" but that all changed. Our few belongings were packed, waiting on the porch. The farm has been given to Clara and George. Where do we go now?

*Clarence and I welcomed our first gift from God today! Our beautiful baby Virgil was born.

*Somehow we are making it through each day. Clarence works from sun up to sun down in the fields. I'm keeping busy with Virgil who's been joined by a few more "precious" gifts...Joy, Lyle, Russell...God-You sure are blessing me with these babies! It's got Clarence rather concerned most days. Life in the '20s and '30s is some hard economic times for us farmers ... but I sure enjoyed a good belly laugh today. I caught Joy feeding Russell and our newest piglet from the same bottle! It feels good to laugh, Father.

*Sent Russell and Jack to town today to buy flour. I sure hope they don't get in a tussle on the way home. My Russell is a bit of a boy, never one to turn down getting into a scrap, but he's kind and loving all the same. I did overhear those two bragging about how Russell did smack some boy pretty hard while Jack held the bag of flour.

*The Lord has seen fit to give me and Clarence some more daughters and sons! My oh my, my life is pretty full! Our dinner table is crowded. Somehow we manage to feed our family, even if it means daddy eats last and Jack and Helen share a glass for their milk. Thank You Father for our cows and Your bountiful blessings.

*Today I made 9 loaves of bread. I sure keep our woodstove stoked. We'll enjoy that fresh bread for a few days, then I'll make more. Making our bread has gotten easier. Somehow Clarence was able to get me a dough mixer and the older boys are a big help turning the handle. They don't complain much. Maybe it's because they know momma will make them "jiggers" for an after school treat. A lil bit of deep fried bread dough rolled in sugar sure fills up them empty bellies, Lord.

*My heart is broken Father. This baby I'm carrying came early. We've given him the name Robert. He's so tiny....we'll love him and wait for Your divine Hand upon His life.....

*We buried little Robert today. He lived 6 days. I don't think I'll ever forget him...I'm so grateful my sister Esther is here to help with the children while I heal....

*Clarence and I had a disagreement today. We've got some neighbor children who don't have a momma anymore. Their daddy is working hard, trying his best. Those children are smart. I have figured out they know when supper time is at our house and that I won't turn them away from a meal. Clarence sputtered at me that "it's hard enough feeding my own kids, Sadie..." I usually don't speak back to my husband but today was different "Clarence, those children are hungry". I'm grateful the Lord helped me keep my tongue from taking on a tone that wasn't pleasant or disrespectful to him. Somehow, my soft gentle rebukes are enough for my husband to settle down. Somehow, our meager provisions fill hungry bellies.

*I think our family is complete now, Father. Baby Ann has joined her 10 brothers and sisters. She's perfect and precious, just like all my children that you've given us.

*I'm tired this morning. This war our country has joined has me up til 2 or 3 am praying for my boys. It's a practice I've added into my daily life now. I'm anxious for every letter I will get from one of them, and the hugs I'll cherish when they come home on leave or for good.

*The war is over, Lord. Thank You that all my boys are home safe.

*Lord, I am overwhelmed by the blessings my children gave us. They put all their money together and built us a house. It sure is nice and oh my, I've even got a greenhouse to grow my favorite flowers. Maybe I'll even sell some, but not on Sunday Lord—that's Your day...and the berry plants! Why, I can see me canning jams and lining up pies on the washer and dryer for everyone to enjoy for Sunday dinners! The chickens better keep producing and providing. I've got lots more bellies to fill now, Lord, but I'm not complaining. Thank You, too, for our lil Brownie. He's a good dog. Daddy got him for me since my eyes aren't so good anymore.

*Oh, the weddings. Sure am getting me some beautiful "daughters". The grandbabies are starting to fill our arms and home! Each one is "precious"...I don't have to decide who I love the most; I don't have any favorites...they're all beautiful and perfect.

*Father, You have always been faithful to answer my prayers. Clarence has made the decision to receive You into his life. I guess age 55 isn't too late to change a man!

Gramma didn't have modern appliances. Her home was clean, hot in the summers and cold in the winters. Her hands were always busy...making doughs...canning fruits and meats...washing clothes by hand...cleaning up messes...planting her vegetable garden...picking berries...folded in prayer at every meal and during those late night sessions with her Father...and always on the Sabbath.

She was never one to brag or complain. At least, I never witnessed such things. I was blessed to have her in my life for 14 years. Somehow, she chose to keep her hurts and deepest concerns inside her quiet soul, only to be turned into a prayer when it weighed upon her mind. Maybe we could all learn a thing or two from her example. Not everything needs to be posted for family and friends to see, but rather turned into prayer at the end of the day or in the dark quiet hours of the night, when all the chores have been done for another day, bellies are full, and the sounds of soft content breathing from sleepy boys and girls can be heard coming from bedrooms.... filling the air as a new day is about to dawn.

It's often said that a family has someone or something that has become a legacy of faith. For my family—the Jewells—its Sadie Morris Jewell, my grandmother. I have just over 50 cousins and we'd all agree that she was the most loving kind woman we were fortunate to have in our lives. I hope you enjoy a brief glimpse into her life as I recall it.

Plans underway Livingston ESA's 'Backpacks for Kids/Connect for Kids' Project

The Livingston Educational Service Agency is gearing up for our 22nd Annual 'Backpacks for Kids' Project. The 'Backpacks for Kids/Connect for Kids' Project provides basic school supplies, at no cost, to students in Livingston County whose families are experiencing financial difficulties. This event is made possible through the generous donations of our community members.

We are asking community members to please consider donating backpacks and/or school supplies for us to fill backpacks and provide to Livingston County children. On Friday, August 4, a Livingston ESA Bus will be at the Howell Wal-Mart from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Community members and families who are shopping for school supplies can pick up an extra set of pencils, pack of paper, or even a backpack as a contribution to the Annual Stuff the Bus Campaign.

We welcome donations for the 2023 Livingston ESA "Backpacks for Kids" project. You may drop off donations through August 4, 2023 at the Livingston ESA's Education Center, located at 1425 West Grand River Avenue, Howell, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m., Monday through Thursday. You can also visit our website at LivingstonESA.org, click on Community Resources/ Backpacks for Kids to find additional drop off locations and information for donations.

Last year, approximately $15,000 in monetary and school supply donations helped us distribute over 1,000 backpacks to students from Preschool through 12th Grade. The goal this year is to again distribute 1,000 backpacks full of basic school supplies for Livingston County students whose families may be experiencing financial difficulties. Residents, churches and local businesses who contribute to this effort through donations, volunteer time, and serving as drop-off sites for supplies and backpacks help to make this event such a success.

Again this year, the Backpacks for Kids event will be held as a drive through event on August 10, 2023 at each of the five school districts. This change was made to provide easier access for families and school districts. Please look for additional information later regarding distribution details.

For additional information call (517) 540-6802 or visit our website: LivingstonESA.org and click on Community Resources.

Letter to the Editor

Woke, a personal awareness;
Anti-woke, a political agenda

Blacks used the phrase “stay woke” during the Jim Crow “separate but equal” period in American history (1896-1954) to mean be aware; Whites may try to blame and frame them for things that they hadn’t done. Why stay woke?

In the Scottsboro Case (Powell v. Alabama, 1931), two young White women who had been soliciting for prostitution on a train, falsely accused nine young Black males of rape; all were found guilty and sentenced to death. On appeal, the Supreme Court commuted the death sentences because they were denied representation at trial, but eight of the nine served five 20-year prison terms. All were innocent. The case was the model for Harper Lee’s classic novel To Kill a Mockingbird.

In 1955, Emmett Till, a 14-year-old boy from Chicago, was beaten and shot to death for allegedly whistling at Carolyn Bryant Dunham, a White woman in Money, Mississippi. He was there visiting relatives. Dunham’s husband and another man were arrested for the murder. In the trial, Dunham testified that Till had verbally and physically accosted her. The men were subsequently acquitted and later admitted in a magazine interview that they had killed the boy. Dunham, years later, recanted her testimony, saying that Till had not accosted her.

Five young Black males, otherwise known as “the Central Park 5” were falsely convicted of the assault and rape of Trisha Meili, a White woman jogging in Central Park, on April 19, 1989. Though the five Black men were ultimately exonerated of the crime, Donald Trump has never recanted his call for them to be killed, and refused to do so as president, even years after the exonerations.

Ahmaud Arbery, a 25-year-old Black man, jogging in Brunswick, Georgia was shot to death on February 23, 2020, by three White men, who, despite having no evidence of any kind, decided that he was responsible for recent burglaries in the area. The county prosecutor told the men to go home and clean up, and suppressed evidence of the murder for over two months.

Contemporary usage of the word encourages continued awareness that there exists a political agenda in America that seeks to use the power of government to deprive some people of their inalienable rights of self-determination, i.e. life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness. These inalienable rights, endowed by our own creator, are rooted in personal choices of beliefs, values, and identity which are within the purview of no government powers to impinge.

A woke personal awareness seeks to establish no forms of power, nor structure to compel anyone to embrace the choices of another. The anti-woke agenda, however, seeks to use the power of government to impinge upon personal freedoms of expression through banning of books, nullifying and punishing personal reproductive choice, infringing upon the personal right to one’s own gender identity, abridging free speech rights to teach and learn the truths of history and racial oppression, and denying the right of all eligible citizens to cast a meaningful vote—and all in the name of traditional American values and Christian morality.

Interestingly, there was a “woke movement” centuries before the American Jim Crow era. Ironically, however, it was first century Christians who needed to stay woke and remain vigilant since they might be blamed and framed for things they hadn’t done. Accusations plaguing the early Christian home-churches included the horrific rumors of cannibalizing babies and child sex orgies. How remarkably similar to the 2016 “pizza-gate” Q-anon conspiracy rumor that Hillary Clinton and other Democratic leaders were involved in a child sex trafficking ring operating out of the basement of a Washington, D. C. pizzeria.

Early Christians were accused of setting the fire that burned Rome in July, 64 AD. Historians cite evidence suggesting that Nero himself set the fire, and even participated in trying to extinguish the blaze, once it raged out of control, but all as an excuse to blame and frame Christians, and to execute the apostles, Peter and Paul, the former crucified and the latter beheaded on October 13, 64 AD.

Again, remarkably similar to the accusations that Black Lives Matter protests were responsible for setting our American cities ablaze after the George Floyd murder by Minneapolis police in the summer of 2020. Video evidence and credible news reports, however, indicated the involvement of far right provocateurs in setting fires, breaking windows, attempting to start riots and looting. There were not any reports of BLM members having been arrested, while there was at least one far right provocateur who was arrested.

These kinds of baseless accusations of first-century Christians were the inspiration for the Epistles of 1st & 2nd Peter, encouraging every Christian to live a life above reproach that they not be falsely accused of such evil deeds.

Always be prepared to give an answer... with gentleness and respect... keeping a clear conscience... it is better, if it be God’s will, to suffer for doing good than for doing evil (1 Peter 3:15-17, NIV).

That’s a “stay woke” epistle.

Now, it is the political agenda of White Nationalists, corrupting the Christian ethic, flouting the Golden Rule, and love of neighbor in favor of derisive divisiveness for those who wish only to exercise and enjoy their inalienable rights of self-determination. The choice of values, beliefs, or personal identity is no assault on those of another, unless there is an agenda to use the power of government to enforce the one, and oppress the other. Yes, we have seen anti-woke before, long ago, like the anti-Christ (1 John), a wolf in sheep’s clothing, evil masquerading as good, and all for the purpose of political power, greed, and ill-gotten gain.

U.S. Leadership: Avoiding Excesses between Interventionism and Isolationism

It seems as though we in the United States are living in a time of relative peace. We are not engaged in combat with another major power, and when looking at years past, comparatively few military units are currently deployed in combat operations. So, why does it sometimes not feel like a time of peace? I think that is in part due to many domestic economic and social issues that vie for our attention, but it is also because many international tensions still exist. They may not seem to concern us directly, but they still affect us.

To illustrate a broader point, I want to talk about perhaps the two most prominent areas of tension. First, Ukraine is actively engaged in full scale combat operations to fend off Russia's unprovoked and unjust invasion, and second, the people of Taiwan live under the near-constant risk of invasion from China. A persistent argument in American political opinion states that these issues are of no concern to us. They are someone else's problem, the argument goes, but I want to address that line of thinking.

As Americans, we want to live without adverse foreign interference. I do not think that is a controversial statement. The desire to manage our own affairs was central to our founding, and more generally, there seems to be a human tendency to reject manipulation or control by those who do not have what we deem is the proper authority. If they do not have the jurisdiction to tell us what to do, then we will work to protect our rights and authority.

This also goes for the most egregious form of foreign interference, invasion. We reserve the right to protect our people and resources, and an invasion is the most extreme violation of that independent sovereignty. Of course, one state usually invades another because it believes it has the power to succeed. In other words, it is a bully preying on the vulnerable, taking what it wants because it can.

We do not want an international system in which bully states can abuse weaker states and get away with it. If a bad actor can take what it wants by force with little to no repercussions, then more states will follow that model. The strong get what they want through manipulation and violence, and the rest are left to suffer. In the language of international relations as written by Thucydides, the strong do what they can, and the weak suffer what they must. Is that the kind of world in which we want to live and leave to our children?

As things currently stand, a plethora of nations agree with the U.S. about standing up to nefarious actions on the world stage. The U.S. built a strong alliance system that shares the burden of deterring and responding to international bullies. However, that system is not guaranteed. It requires strong leadership with a clear, moral, and strategic vision. If the U.S. becomes completely utilitarian and ignores the plight of states suffering from bullies, then that sends a message to bad actors that they can take what they want through force without reprisal.

An international system of that nature would lead to greater instability and violence. Maybe someone does not care if the rest of the world is on fire so long as the U.S. is secure, but that individual should care because an unstable and dangerous world still impacts the U.S. at home. The most obvious impact would be economic with degraded trade and denied access to critical resource, but that is not the only concern. With a perpetually degrading deterrence against violations of sovereignty, the U.S. homeland would be at greater risk. The U.S. is strong but not impervious, especially when hypothesizing a U.S. that has largely withdrawn from the world.

The U.S. has been through this dance before in the lead up to World War II. No comparison is perfect, but there are enough similarities to draw lessons. In the 1930s and early 1940s, bad actors bullied other states unchecked; the U.S. was seen as weak and reclusive; and the Hirohito government ultimately decided to attack U.S. sovereignty. The U.S. was not as immune to the events of the world as many at the time believed. Let's not make the same mistakes twice.

Note that I am not arguing for an interventionist foreign policy. There is a common tendency for people to assume that others ascribe to one extreme or another, but there is a middle ground between isolationism and interventionism. We can walk that middle ground of deterring bullies while not stirring up conflict. This requires nuance, but it is important. This kind of U.S. leadership and engagement is not only good for the world but also good for us, and we would do well to support it.

Additional Information:

Officers Coln and McMahon worked the Fun in the Ville event at the Centennial Park. I was told the turnout was great and was yet another fun family event here in the great Ville. These events are great for us and we enjoy interacting with the children and parents. Thank you to those who take the time to put this event on and to the sponsors who graciously donate money to support this event.

I attended the DDA (Downtown Development Authority) meeting. This group of like-minded business owners come together and work very diligently to support businesses and future businesses in the downtown district.

I attended the Senior Center's Jeopardy event. This event coincided with National Elder Abuse Awareness Day. Chief Fieg, Hank Vaupel, and myself played Vanna White. We had a great time interacting with seniors in and out of our community while educating them on the scams that are targeting seniors across the nation.

I met with officials at Conway Township to discuss ordinance issues/concerns in the township. The Fowlerville Police Department works with Conway Township to assist ordinance violations that are directed to us from them.

I attended the 4th of July meeting, where we discussed the itinerary for this year's event. This is a great event for our community and a lot of work takes place throughout the year to make this event happen. Special thank you for the committee, volunteers, and sponsors for making this happen.

I know we are all experiencing the pains that go with shutdowns on I-96. We are seeing a lot of traffic on our local streets, especially Grand River Ave. Please give yourself extra time and drive carefully as we are experiencing an influx of accidents and traffic related complaints.

Respectfully submitted
John J. Tyler, Chief of Police

Fowlerville High School Alumni meets for 129th time

The Fowlerville High School Alumni Association held its 129th gathering on Saturday, June 10, at the high school.

“We were thrilled to return to the school for the first time since 2019,” said Judy Recker, the Alumni Association president.

The annual banquet was postponed in 2020 during the COVID-19 Pandemic and then held at the Fowlerville Fairgrounds’ Finlan Gazebo for the past two years.

“Our organization had to deal with a number of significant changes in putting on the 2023 banquet,” noted Recker. “Thanks to the cooperation of many individuals, the event was a success.”

About 170 alums and guests were in attendance. Many of them attended the social hour. After photos were taken, they enjoyed a meal catered by Jonna’s of Howell. Both high school and junior high students, directed by Jeanne Russo, served the meal.

The program included a business meeting, followed by the toasting of classes. It was announced that longtime board member Coralene (Jackson) Bloss was retiring from her post as vice president, but will continue to be active in the Alumni by working on scholarships and investments.

John Grill recognized his Class of 1963 gathered for its 60th anniversary, while Marv Allen shared some words about his Class of 1958 on the occasion of their 65th reunion.

Local Masons take part in Annual Communication in Mt. Pleasant

The Michigan Masonic Grand Lodge held its Annual Communication at the Soaring Eagle Casino in Mt. Pleasant on May 22-24. Over 240 Michigan Lodges were represented by their delegates and invitees, with Fowlerville among them.

This is an annual event that addresses legislative amendments, legislative discussion and judicial decisions. Workshops covering a variety of community and Lodge needs were available the first day. These meetings help the Masons of Michigan in regard to their best roads to help and participate with our local communities.

On day two officers were elected and their cabinets appointed. The Fowlerville Masonic Lodge was represented by Bob Redinger and Irv LaLonde and is proud to announce that Glendon (Butch) Redinger has been appointed as one of the Grand Lodge Stewards. This position is an "aide de camp" responsibility. Butch will assist in the daily necessities of The Grand Master such as itineraries, communication and scheduling. This position will help Butch to understand the nuances and skills needed if he should choose to progress through "the line" to higher positions.

One of the appealing aspects to Butch's new position is that he will be able to travel throughout the great state of Michigan as there area Lodges everywhere.

If you run into Butch, please congratulate him.

We are also thankful for the support we, as Lodge members, are able to offer Butch. We are blessed to have him as a representative. Most importantly, thank you to Butch's wife Jann. She will be invaluable to him as he negotiates his new adventure.

If you are interested in an organization for men that promotes "Good Men Doing Good Deeds" check out the Grand Lodge of Michigan or, better yet, our local Masonic Lodge #164 at: fowlervillemasonic.com or look up Fowlerville Blue Lodge for our website.

Eleanor Ingersoll receives State of Michigan Tribute on the occasion of her 100th birthday

Eleanor Ingersoll received a State of Michigan Tribute on the occasion of her 100th birthday. The Fowlerville resident observed that birthday this past Tuesday, June 13th.

State Rep. Robert Bezotte presented the Tribute to Eleanor on Sunday, June 11th at her home, with several family members present.

Noting that she was born in Vassar, Michigan on that date in 1923, the Tribute read that “Eleanor grew up in a world quite different in many ways from the one we know today. In the span of her lifetime, tremendous cultural, sociological, and technological changes have transpired here in Michigan and elsewhere. Because Eleanor Ingersoll has lived and tasted life throughout this period, she has tremendous insight, experience, and wisdom few of us can fully appreciate.”

The document listed several highlights of her life, including family and work. Among them were marriage to Les Ingersoll in 1942, having two children (Bev and Jim) along with grandchildren and great-grandchildren, serving as manager of the Chemung Hill Country Club in Howell for 25 years, her employment at Fool’s Gold until age 80, and traveling to the Hawaiian Islands and taking a ride in a hot air balloon.

It ended with a quote from Charles Dickens: “Father Time is not always a hard parent, and, though he tarries for none of his children, he often lays his hand lightly on those who have used him well” and the observation that “Surely, Eleanor breathes great meaning into this thought.”

The Tribute was signed by Rep. Bezotte, State Senator Lana Theis, Lt. Gov. Garlin Gilchrist II, and Gov. Gretchen Whitmer.

Card of Thanks

I would like to thank all my family and friends who celebrated my 100th birthday. Each card means so much. I truly enjoyed them. And thanks to State Rep. Bob Bezotte for the State of Michigan Tribute.

2022 Water Quality Report for the Village of Webberville

This report covers the drinking water quality for the Village of Webberville, for the calendar year 2022. This information is a snapshot of the quality of the water that we provided to you in 2022. Included are details about where your water comes from, what it contains, and how it compares to Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and state standards.

Your water comes from the Basal Member of the Saginaw Formation via three groundwater wells at a depth of 220 and 210 feet located at 425 S. Maple St. and 180 Pine St. The state performed an assessment of our source water in 2003 to determine the susceptibility or the relative potential of contamination. The susceptibility rating is on a seven-tiered scale from “very-low” to “very-high” based on geologic sensitivity, well construction, water chemistry, and contamination sources. The susceptibility of our source is moderately-high.

There are no significant sources of contamination in our water supply. We are making efforts to protect our sources by participating in a wellhead protection program and conducting regular source water monitoring. If you would like to know more about the report, please contact Shane Batdorff, DPW Supervisor, at (517) 375-8671 or sbatdorff@webbvill.com.

- Contaminants and their presence in water: Drinking Water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the EPA’s Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).
- Vulnerability of sub-populations: Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune systems disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).
- Sources of drinking water: The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. Our water comes from wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.
- Contaminants that may be present in source water include:
 - Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.
 - Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining or farming.
 - Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture and residential uses.
 - Radioactive contaminants, which are naturally occurring or can be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.
 - Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. Food and Drug Administration regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which provide the same protection for public health.

Water Quality Data

The table below lists all the drinking water contaminants that we detected during the 2022 calendar year. The presence of these contaminants in the water does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. Unless otherwise noted, the data presented in this table is from testing done January 1 – December 31, 2022. The State allows us to monitor for certain contaminants less than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year. All of the data is representative of the water quality, but some are more than one year old.

Terms and abbreviations used:

- Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG): The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
- Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL): The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.
- N/A: Not applicable
- ppb: parts per billion or micrograms per liter
- ppm: parts per million or milligrams per liter
- pCi/l: picocuries per liter (a measure of radioactivity).
- Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant, which, if exceeded, triggers treatment, or other requirements that a water system must follow.
- Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level (MDRL): Means the highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.
- Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal (MDRLG): Means the level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MDRLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to microbial contaminants.

• TTHM: (Total Trihalomethanes) A byproduct of Chlorine disinfectant.

*Chlorine was calculated using a running annual average.

 While your drinking water meets the standard for arsenic it does contain low levels of arsenic. EPA’s standard balances the current understanding of arsenic’s possible health effects against the costs of removing the arsenic from the drinking water. EPA continues to research the health effects of low levels of arsenic, which is a mineral known to cause cancer in humans at high concentrations and is linked to other health effects such as skin damage and circulatory problems.

Unregulated contaminants are those for which EPA has not established drinking water standards. Monitoring helps EPA to determine where certain contaminants occur and whether it needs to regulate those contaminants.

Our water supply has 0 lead service lines and 150 service lines of unknown material out of a total of 460 service lines.

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. The Village of Webberville is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

Is our water system meeting other rules that govern our operations? The State and EPA require us to test our water on a regular basis to ensure its safety.

We are committed to providing you safe, reliable, and healthy water. We are pleased to provide you with this information to keep you fully informed about your water. We will be updating this report annually, and will also keep you informed of any problems that may occur throughout the year, as they happen.

We invite public participation in decisions that affect drinking water quality. Our village council meetings are held the second Tuesday of each month at 6:00 P.M. at the village hall at 115 S. Main Street. The public is invited.

For more information about your water, or the contents of this report, contact Shane Batdorff, DPW Supervisor at (517) 375-8671 or sbatdorff@webbvill.com. For more information about safe drinking water, visit the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency at www.epa.gov/safewater/

We will not send you a copy of this report. Copies are available at the Webberville Village Office at 115 South Main Street or you can print them from our website.

Webberville Report

Senior Spotlight—Aspen Smith

By Brooke Bayard

Aspen Smith is this week's featured senior. Aspen's father is Jason Smith, and her stepmother is Christina Smith. Her siblings are Jacob Burger, Issac Johnston, Ariana Rose Duff and Olivia Schmoekl. Smith has been involved in Competitive Swimming for 5 years, Choir for 4 years, Band for 3 years, Cheer for 1 year, and Girl Scouts for 11 years. She wishes to become an art teacher.

"I was in competitive swimming from 6th grade to 10th grade, cheer only in 5th grade, band from 5th grade until 10th grade, and girl scouts," Smith said. "My favorite memory while at this school is actually when I got dress coded," she said. "That was amusing."

"Aspen and I met at McDonalds as we both worked there," noted Samantha Peach. "We just got along there and since we started going to school together, we started interacting with each other there too. We sat at lunch together. Every interaction I've had with Aspen has been pure happiness. She's a great friend."

"A favorite and fond memory I have with Aspen is when we were watching Anime on Crunchyroll, and it took forever to load, so in that time we were "angrily" yelling at it, but it was all just fun insults," Peach recalled.

"Something that stands out about Aspen is her drafting and sculpting skills, which over time improved, despite being so amazing already last year when we first met," said art teacher Dean Wilson. "Since we have met, it has been very delightful to observe Aspen explore sculpture, her other media, and improve upon it. She has been one of my best students, extremely creative and talented.

"It has been very pleasurable to have worked with Aspen, and I believe that she will be successful in whatever she chooses to pursue," Wilson added.

"I believe that within ten years Aspen will either be a McDonalds worker or will be a wonderful and successful art teacher" said Peach.

"The advice I would give to younger students is that school is more important than anything, so get it over with and do as well as you can," Smith offered. "Get your work in on time, focus, and don't get yourself into unnecessary drama."

Webberville Woman's Advance Club learns about meaning of flag folding

The Webberville Woman's Advance Club met at Webberville United Methodist Church on Monday, June 5 for a salad luncheon. In recognition of Flag Day, members were told about the meaning of folding the American flag thirteen times and handing it to the next of kin at the burial of an American military veteran. Club member Judy Christie displayed the flag she received when her husband Ken, an Army veteran of 23-1/2 years, was buried at Michigan Great Lakes National Cemetery in 2021.

Two Club members were recognized for their contributions and long membership in the Club. Betty Dodge has been a member for 58 years and Marge Lawson for 30 years. President Nancy Ann Webb presented each one with a gift from the Club. Kathy Ward led a game of Bingo and awarded prizes to members.

Following a summer break, the next meeting will be Sept. 18.

This is a giant silk moth, "polyphemus" one of several that live in North America, and which will be at the Eastern Ingham Farmers Market in Williamston, this Sunday, June 18th from 10am to 2pm, as a part of the special exhibit by Nature Discovery-- "Giant Silk Moths and Michigan Frogs and Salamanders".

Musicians Welcome

The Market ambience is pleasantly improved with live music performed by volunteers each Sunday for two-hour gigs. This Sunday, mellow market music will be provided in the afternoon by D J Clarinet. Sit back and relax in the Spotted Goat Lounge with your purchases and enjoy a set or two.

The Market always welcomes new and returning visitors. It's easy to bring the kids to the children's craft booth, "Seedlings and Sprouts" to make the day's craft, see friends and neighbors also shopping, and join the Market's new Customer Loyalty Program which rewards regular shoppers with the chance to win a prize in monthly drawings. The first monthly drawing winner of the Customer Loyalty Program prize was selected Sunday, June 4. Congratulations, Selena Sternicki who took home a beautifully crafted charcuterie board!

Future monthly drawings will be held on July 2, August 6, September 3 and October 15, so remember to pick up a loyalty card at the Market's Information Booth and get it stamped with every purchase. After only ten stamps, drop your card in the «drawing box» and start another card!

Brad Davis leads Webberville to memorable 2023 Golf Season

After a winless 2022 season, the Spartans went undefeated in their regular season dual, tri, and quad matches in 2023. The Spartans also finished amongst the top teams in many of their invitationals this season as well.

Webberville head coach Andrew Smith credits the team's success to their work ethic and excellent senior leadership. Smith noted that "This is just a great group of kids from really great families. Our seniors, Drew Peckens, Tate Mills, and Brady Pierce did an excellent job of setting high expectations for our team and the underclassman embraced competition and rose to the challenge. We had a lot of fun this year."

One of those underclassman shined especially bright this season in particular. Webberville junior Brad Davis secured the team's top spot early in the season and never looked back. Davis finished with a 9-hole season average of 38.9 and an 18-hole season average of 83.9 while placing 3rd overall in MHSAA Regionals, just two strokes off the lead.

Davis' effort also earned him a spot in the MHSAA D4 Boys Golf State Finals.

During their 2023 regular season, the Spartans successfully defeated: Fowlerville, Mt. Morris, Durand, Ovid-Elsie,

Brad Davis (center) after placing 3rd at 2023 MHSAA Regional Chesaning, New Lothrop, and Lakeville. Other top contributors for the Spartans were juniors Wes Dusa, Liam Wilder, and John Wyatt Coe along with sophomore Austin Johnson. Freshman Dylan Rhodes and sophomore Symon Crandall will also be in the hunt for a regular spot on the competition team next year, which could be another special season.

"We will return 6 of our top 9 golfers next year and we are all putting the work in. We take pride in pushing each other to improve, so it will be a fun and competitive summer, no doubt!" Davis said.

Livingston County to be getting new look on website

In less than three weeks, residents will be able to access County information and services easier than ever before by visiting Livingston County's redesigned website. The new website design will offer easier access to the most used pages and services, as well as a cleaner, simpler layout for visitors to navigate. For the last six months, each County Office and Department has refreshed their content to ensure that the new site is user-focused and provides the information our residents, local businesses, and community partners need. The new site is easy to navigate, has a fresh look and feel, requires less clicks, features an intelligent and robust search engine, is mobile responsive, and compliant with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). While www.livgov.com will continue to direct you to the County's website, we'll be announcing a new domain name closer to the site launch.

Key changes and new website features include:

- Simplified and organized navigational tabs are featured on the website's header to help residents quickly find the information they are looking for. County Departments and Offices are found under the "Government" tab, while all Livingston County Courts can be found under the "Courts" tab. The "Services" and "How Do I" tabs feature the most visited departments and services for easy access. Throughout the website, these most sought-out pages and services are also prominently featured with icon buttons.

- Stay up-to-date with County news by exploring the recently added News Room. Here you'll find the latest press releases and announcements. You'll even be able to sign up to get the latest news delivered straight to your inbox. There is also an expanded calendar of public meetings for County Board and Committees. A new Featured Events section showcases major County events like Open Houses, Recycling Collections, and more.

- The website was designed with a more aesthetically pleasing color scheme and features photos that highlight the County's beautiful scenery. With such an abundance of eye-catching landscapes, the County wants to share as much of our local nature as possible on our website. If you know of a beautiful and scenic location in Livingston county, please let us know or send us a photo you've taken so we can feature it on our website. Send your recommendations and photos to communications@livgov.com.

- Links to the County's official social media sites are included in the site's footer and participating Departments, like the Sheriff's Office, Animal Shelter, and Health Department. Residents are encouraged to follow the County for the latest news, events, and announcements. Livingston County's website and social media pages are important ways the County communicates with residents about what resources are available and how our government is operating.

We're looking forward to launching the new website and hopes the public enjoys using it and finds it an easy to navigate, helpful resource.

What is a Dad?

By Jace Arledge

This weekend we celebrate men... I'm not going to say FATHER'S Day because... well, just as with Mother's Day, you don't have to be the creator of a child to be the figure of a mom or dad.

Uncles, male friends, and brothers can all be fathers to someone, so it's hard to not think of those men during this weekend celebration.

I lost my dad on Feb. 22, 2022 at age 89, but we were estranged for many years until two years ago. During our time of separation I had other men who I looked up to; who I went to for advice and that helped me when it came down to learning a thing or two, I needed the assistance. For them, I am grateful. From them, I understand what being a man is.

That being a man isn't about how big and bad you are. That men do cry and it's ok. It is about how much compassion and empathy you have for others. Helping others when they need it. Giving a firm handshake, saying what you mean and meaning what you say, and standing by your word NO MATTER WHAT because you are only as good as your word. For those things I am thankful, they have served me well through the years.

So, to all you men out there, especially my father-in-law, Roger, I hope that this day is filled with love, joy, good food and friendship. You are all valued and appreciated. Stay kind and LOVE unconditionally! Til next Time...

Health Insurance Options After a Spouse Retires

Dear Savvy Senior,

My 63-year-old wife, who's doesn't work, is on my health insurance plan through my employer. When I retire next month and go on Medicare, what are our options for getting her health coverage until she turns 65? Is there some kind of Medicare coverage for dependent spouses?

Need Insurance

Dear Need,

Unfortunately, Medicare does not provide family coverage to younger spouses or dependent children when you qualify for Medicare. Nobody can obtain Medicare benefits before age 65, unless eligible at a younger age because of disability. With that said, here are your best options for covering your wife.

Affordable Care Act: In most cases, your best choice is to get your wife an individual health insurance policy through the Affordable Care Act (ACA) health insurance Marketplace (a.k.a. Obamacare). The Marketplace offers comprehensive health coverage, and she won't be denied coverage or charged extra for preexisting health conditions.

And thanks to the American Rescue Plan and Inflation Reduction Act, the Marketplace now provides enhanced subsidies through 2025. If your income falls below the 400 percent poverty level after you retire – anything below $73,240 for a couple or $54,360 for a single in 2023 – your wife will be eligible for a tax credit that will reduce the amount you'll have to pay for her policy. The Marketplace also ensures that households with incomes above that 400 percent poverty level will not have to pay more than 8.5 percent of their income for a benchmark policy.

To see how much subsidy you may be eligible for, use Kaiser Family Foundation calculator at KFF.org/interactive/subsidy-calculator.

Chocolate Mug Cake

Treat Dad to this chocolate mug cake that is made in the microwave for a fudgy, chocolaty treat that is truly decadent. Add a few chocolate chips to make it extra rich and gooey.

Ingredients

- ¼ cup all-purpose flour
- ¼ cup white sugar
- 2 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa powder
- ⅛ teaspoon baking soda
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons milk
- 2 tablespoons canola oil
- 1 tablespoon water
- ¼ teaspoon vanilla extract

Directions

1. Mix flour, sugar, cocoa powder, baking soda, and salt together in a large microwave-safe mug; stir in milk, canola oil, water, and vanilla extract.
2. Cook in the microwave until cake is done in the middle, about 1 minute 45 seconds.

Variation:

For a healthier version, use 1 1/2 tablespoons of plain unsweetened applesauce instead of canola oil, and use 3 tablespoons plus 1 teaspoon of water instead of milk.

Top with whipped cream or your favorite ice cream for a special treat!

Livingston County Comments

By: Doug Helzerman,
District 1
Commissioner

The Livingston County Board of Commissioners, on June 12th, approved the proposed levy that will apportion taxes for the county operational purposes based on the taxable valuation of property as follows:

- General Operations 3.2089
- Ambulance .2836
- Veterans Relief .0564

With this, we believe that we will continue to be the county with the lowest tax rate while maintaining our drive to keep our county on the cutting edge of new ideas. We aim for efficiency and superior delivery of required services.

The board voted to give Nathan Burd, our excellent County Administrator, his second three-year contract. On May 20, 2020, the Board of Commissioners approved his initial appointment. His term commenced July 27, 2020, during the height of the covid lockdowns and he has proven himself to be a person of high integrity and superior administrative abilities. He is a good fit with all of our elected and appointed directors in the county, and we are pleased that he wants to continue to serve here.

The budget is closely tied to the control of the number of employees and the pay scale that is authorized, so each change is brought to the full board for approval. The Livingston County Veteran Services Department has three positions (Benefits Counselor I, II, and III) These positions are commensurate with education and experience in the role. We approved a two-year trial to give the director freedom to move people in and upward in these positions, with the approval of HR and the veterans' board. This would not require the direct approval of the Commissioners.

Livingston County EMS currently hosts paramedic training programs and is always looking for grants to insure that our EMS department is fully staffed. We authorized EMS to apply for this funding to reduce or eliminate the student cost of the paramedic program; if approved and awarded it would bring $348,000, covering tuition for up to 60 students in the next 3 planned paramedic courses over the next 18 months.

We have also passed a resolution prohibiting appointed boards and committees from promoting events and activities which are outside the scope of their mission.

In the Human Services Collaborative Board (HSCB) 2023 Summer Newsletter, there appeared events of two private organizations dealing with so called "Pride." Since the HSCB is under the jurisdiction of the Livingston County Board of Commissioners, we agreed that for this reason, the ads were not acceptable.

The HSCB is one of the gems of our county. It is a leader in helping the many agencies in our county to work together in sharing the burden of meeting the needs of those in our county who need special services and help. This board is recognized across our state as having the gold standard of getting the most "bang for the buck". This means meeting the needs of those who are down on their luck.

I look forward to any comments you may wish to send me at dhelzerman@livgov.com

Michigan House Report

By Bob Bezotte,
50th District

Elections are the foundation of our entire government, and the processes we have in place to guide and protect those elections are extremely important. We need safeguards in place to earn the public's trust and ensure fair and accurate results.

That's why it is vital to work transparently and cautiously any time we make significant changes to our state election laws.

Unfortunately, that is not what is happening in Lansing right now.

Bills crafted in the dark to make wide-ranging election reforms were recently introduced by a small handful of Democrats and were rushed through the House this week. Instead of simply implementing the new constitutional requirements approved by Michigan voters through Proposal 2 of 2022, the Democrat plan erodes several safeguards that have long been in place to protect against election fraud.

Concerns I have with House Bills 4695-4702 include:

Unequal voting access: The bills would authorize state and local officials to send unsolicited absentee applications to the voters of their choice — enabling partisan actors to prioritize their own supporters. The bills would also let clerks unequally extend early voting beyond the nine days required under the Constitution — creating further disparities in voting access.

Weakened election security: The plan would repeal a bipartisan law that requires security camera monitoring of absentee ballot drop boxes. The bills would also decrease signature verification standards and make it more difficult to reject fraudulent ballots.

Post-election voting: The bills would allow people to register to vote and cast a ballot even after polls close on election day. The proposal comes on top of a law passed earlier this year to count overseas ballots received after election day even without a postmark verifying that the ballot was submitted on time.

As these bills move forward, I will continue pushing for changes to protect election integrity and ensure Proposal 2 is implemented as voters intended.

June is Internet Safety Month, so I thought it would be a good time to remind everyone about a tool Michigan offers to help parents protect their kids from inappropriate advertisements online.

The ProtectMICHild Registry is a free and secure program that keeps kids safe from adult-oriented advertising via social media, video streaming, text, and email. Parents can register their children's social media and streaming platform handles, phone numbers, and email addresses to block ads for products like alcohol, tobacco, pornography, and online gambling. Accounts for these platforms can be registered without affecting the way the apps are used. Children's personal information also remains private when they are registered.

Created by the Legislature in 2005, the service now covers platforms like YouTube, TikTok, Snapchat, Instagram, Twitter, Discord, Twitch, and more.

Once a child is registered, the service will block adult internet ads for three years or until the child user turns 18. Registrations can be renewed at any time for an additional three-year period. Companies that advertise or link to restricted products and services are required to remove registered accounts within 30 days. Marketers that do not comply with the Michigan Children's Protection Registry Act are subject to fines and penalties.

You can learn more or add your child's accounts to the registry by visiting www.protectmichild.com.

If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to reach out to my office by calling (517) 373-3906 or emailing RobertBezotte@house.mi.gov. I am always happy to hear from people in our community.

expiration date, expanding supply of usable drugs. The bill comes amid shortages of hundreds of critical drugs, including cancer treatment drugs in Michigan so severe that hospitals and health care providers have been compelled to cancel patients’ appointments. In June, Slotkin wrote to the FDA with Sen. Debbie Stabenow (D-MI) and Sen. Gary Peters (D-MI) urging the administration to “do everything in its power to alleviate the strain on patients and prevent delays in life-saving treatments.”

“As someone whose mom died of ovarian cancer, I can’t imagine how families whose loved ones’ treatment has been interrupted due to a drug shortage must feel,” said Slotkin. “This legislation cuts red tape to help the FDA take action and keep lifesaving pharmaceuticals on shelves in the face of a shortage. It’s vital that the availability of critical drugs not fall into question, and when it’s threatened, we need to have tools at the ready to address it head on.”

“The current shortage of lifesaving cancer drugs is compromising care for patients with serious illness and dramatically increasing the cost of the remaining supply of pharmaceuticals like cisplatin. The Michigan Hospital Association and its members applaud the immediate and thoughtful legislative effort by Congresswoman Slotkin to improve the availability of chemotherapy and other important medications,” said Brian Peters, CEO, Michigan Hospital Association.

“Patients with serious illnesses, including cancer, deserve access to the best available lifesaving drugs – even when drug shortages make this a challenge. The Ensuring Access to Lifesaving Drugs Act gives FDA the power to balance the risks and benefits of extending the expiration date of drugs during a shortage, when it is safe to do so -- particularly when the alternative is patients going without. Giving both FDA and industry the tools and motivation to maximize the shelf-life of lifesaving drugs during shortages is an important step in the right direction,” said Andrew G. Shuman M.D., Chief, Clinical Ethics Service at the University of Michigan Medical School, Associate Chief of Staff, VA Ann Arbor Healthcare Systems

Slotkin has been a longtime advocate for strengthening supply chains for critical pharmaceuticals. She co-founded the Domestic Pharmaceutical Manufacturing Caucus, a working group in Congress focused on restoring America’s drug manufacturing industry in order to head off potential supply chain disruptions. In December 2022, her Strengthening America’s Strategic National Stockpile Act, which would make improvements to America’s Strategic National Stockpile of medical supplies, was passed by Congress and signed into law.

Livingston County is experiencing an uptick in anti-LGBTQIA+ policies. The resolution passed by the Livingston County Board of Commissioners and the policy adopted by the Hartland School Board have been covered extensively by local media. Policies like these make Livingston County look like a hostile place for members of the Queer Community. Other county residents may be hesitant to visit Livingston County but we, Queer Families of Livingston, want people to know that there is good in Livingston. As Mr. Rogers' mother used to tell him "Look for the helpers. You will always find people who are helping."

At Queer Families Livingston, a 501c3, our mission is to support and uplift members of the Queer community. While these are trying times for our queer residents, this does not stop our progress, and our local events. One program we offer is "Conversations of Concern." This is a completely non-judgmental conversation between the community member and one of our trained volunteers. These conversations can be held at your convenience and comfort level, online or in person. We encourage those who have questions about any part of the queer culture to reach out and start a conversation with us.

Empathy is an important leadership skill in elected leaders. It increases cooperation, decreases animosity, connects differences, and builds trust. Empathy may be viewed as weakness, but an empathetic candidate is more likely to avoid special interest groups and be accountable to constituents. Empathy should matter to voters.

I will vote for empathetic candidates who strive to reduce violence because they understand children are afraid to attend school; are strategic that budget cuts are not on the backs of the neediest; act on concerns about our life support system, especially air and water quality; seek to build a compassionate society for humans without devaluing anyone; understand that many have personal struggles and pursue solutions. Big issues don't have clear answers, but an empathetic person sees opportunities in problems.

In our representative democracy, it is difficult for citizens to assert power so we must take voting seriously. Electing officials to vote for us is riskier than voting ourselves. What people want and what officials vote for, sometimes collide because of campaign donations, re-election concerns or personal agendas.

Many Americans have low regard for elected officials, but voting is our voice and method to improve the quality of our legislators. We must support candidates that are respectful, knowledgeable, and empathetic if we want a successful future for our country.

Michigan community colleges now offering course credit for hundreds of industry-recognized credentials

Michigan residents with industry-recognized credentials and certifications may now be eligible for course credit at one of the state's 31 community and tribal colleges, the Michigan Community College Association announced last week.

"Skills gained by obtaining an industry-recognized credential are directly connected to knowledge learned on our campuses," said Brandy Johnson, MCCA President. "This new partnership recognizes the hard work being done by our students outside the classroom by awarding course credit for more than 500 industry-recognized credentials."

Students can earn course credit that would count toward hundreds of certificate and degree programs in Michigan. Course credit may be awarded for specific licensures, certifications, apprenticeships, training academies and other industry-recognized credentials. Industry areas where credits are available include healthcare, information technology, manufacturing, culinary arts, digital media, skilled trades, business and more.

Funding to connect the more than 500 industry credential areas is provided by the Ascendium Education Group as part of MCCA's efforts to strengthen career pathways in the state. A searchable database of credentials that course credit can be offered for is available through the Michigan Transfer Network at <https://www.mitransfer.org/Earn-Credits-for-Industry-Credentials>.

Red Cedar Crossings Water Quality Report 2022 Annual CCR

2022 water analysis results for WSSN: 2982

Introduction

In compliance with the Michigan Safe Drinking Water Act, Red Cedar Crossings, Fowlerville, Michigan is providing its customers with its annual Water Quality Report. This edition covers all testing completed from January through December 2022. This report explains where your water comes from, what it contains, and how it compares to Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and state standards. We are committed to providing you with this information because informed customers are our best allies.

Important Health Information

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons, such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk of infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. The EPA/CDC (Center for Disease Control and Prevention) guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the EPA's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (1-800-426-4791).

Glossary of Terms Used in This Report

AL (Action Level): The concentration of a contaminant that, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements, which a water system must follow.

MCLG (Maximum Contaminant Level Goal): The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

MCL (Maximum Contaminant Level): The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

MRDL (Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level): The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.

MRDLG (Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal): The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.

NA Not applicable

pCi/l (Picocuries per liter): A measure of radioactivity

ppb (Parts per billion): micrograms per liter (ug/L); 1 ppb or 1 ug/L is equal to a single penny in $10,000,000.

ppm (Parts per million): milligrams per liter (mg/L); 1 ppm or 1 mg/L is equal to a single penny in $10,000.

RAA Running Annual Average

YOUR DRINKING WATER

What is the source of my water?

Your water comes from three water wells drilled to a maximum depth of 200 feet into an underground source of water called an aquifer. The wells are all located just east of the community well house.

After the water comes out of the wells, we add sodium hypochlorite (chlorine) as a disinfectant to protect you against microbial contaminants, it then enters a 8000 gallon hydro-pneumatic tank which provides pressure for the entire water system, after that it goes through 4 ion exchange filters which softens the water. Water then flows through a distribution system to your homes.

The State of Michigan has performed an assessment of all sources of drinking water. Each system was given a rating based on how susceptible their source water is to contamination. Your source water rating is moderately low. If you are interested in receiving a complete copy of this assessment report, please contact Infrastructure Alternatives Inc. at 616.866.1600.

Types of Water Contaminants

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, the EPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water, which must provide the same protection.

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. Handy Township is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals, and in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity. Contaminants that may be present in source water before we treat it include:

Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife;

Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally occurring, or result from urban storm water runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil/gas production, mining, or farming;

Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban storm-water runoff, and residential uses;

Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban storm water runoff, and septic systems;

Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally occurring.

Why are there contaminants in drinking water?

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the EPA's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (1-800-426-4791).

How can you get involved?

If you have questions or comments about these results, please contact Dave DeGrand at (517) 242-2313.

Letter to the Editor

So on Wednesday, June 7, 2023 the effort began, for the first time ever, with the administration of our sitting president seeking to incarcerate his leading opponent for the 2024 Presidential election. This attack on Donald Trump, in my opinion, puts Biden right up there with Xi Jinping and Vladimir Putin. If this effort succeeds, there will no longer be the “shining city on the hill.” We will instead become another China, Russia, Cuba, Venezuela, and similar nations.

Not long ago that ‘weaselly’ Democratic senator from New Jersey made the statement that the Party could not depend on the people to keep Trump out of office in 2024, so maybe they would have to use other means.

I hope former President Trump has adequate private security. The Praetorian Guard (the Secret Service of Imperial Rome) assassinated several emperors of Rome. God forbid he should be sentenced to jail. We then might be told he was so depressed he committed suicide (like Jeffrey Epstein).

I also have nothing but disdain for many Republican Party leaders. At least Ron DeSantis came right out with a statement blasting what has been done to Trump, contrary to the performance of the other GOP candidates for the presidency. Maybe some others have made statements protesting what has been done to former President Trump, but I have not heard them.

s for myself, I just put up a new, beautiful ‘Trump 2024’ flag on my flagpole.

Sincerely,

Nancy A. Manson

Former Fowlerville wrestlers attend recent tournament in Las Vegas

Several former Fowlerville wrestlers attended a tournament held in Las Vegas this past May 23rd as either participants or observers. They were, from left, Chris Williams, 1997; Dalton Roberts, 2014; Adam Coon, 2013; Dan Coon, 1979, John Jelken, 1974; and Jim Tait, 1973.

Dalton Roberts and Adam Coon were the participants in this qualifying tournament for a spot on the Greco Roman USA World Team. Dalton won his weight class, making him eligible for the finals. Adam finished second which sent him to a second round held at Colorado where he won his class and went onto the finals.

The Final X tournament took place in New Jersey this past June 10th, with neither of the Fowlerville alums able to reach that final goal.

To shop for Marketplace plans in your state, visit HealthCare.gov or call 800-318-2596. Or, if you want some extra help, contact a Marketplace-certified agent or broker at HealthCare.gov/find-assistance.

COBRA: Another option is the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA), which is a federal law that would allow your wife to remain with your company insurance plan for at least 18 months after you make the switch to Medicare. But not every employer plan is COBRA eligible. Contact your employer benefits administrator to find out if yours is one of them.

You also need to be aware that COBRA is not cheap, requiring you to pay the full monthly premium yourself. But, if you've already met or nearly met your employer plan's deductible or out-of-pocket maximum for the year, and don't want your wife to start over with a new plan; or if you find your employer's health plan to be more affordable than the Marketplace plans, it makes sense for your wife to keep her current coverage under COBRA.

Short-Term Health Insurance: If you can't find an affordable Marketplace plan and COBRA is too expensive, the next option is short-term health insurance. These plans, which are not available in every state, are cheaper, bare-bones health plans that provide coverage for one to 12 months and may be renewed for up to three years in some states. But be aware that short-term plans don't comply with the ACA so they can deny sick people coverage, they don't cover pre-existing conditions, and they can exclude coverage essentials like prescription drugs.

To find and compare short-term health plans, try sites like eHealthInsurance.com or PivotHealth.com.

Healthcare sharing ministries: One other coverage option you should know about is healthcare sharing ministries (HCSM). These are cost-sharing health plans in which members – who typically share a religious belief – make monthly payments to cover expenses of other members, including themselves.

HCSM's are cheaper than paying full out-of-pocket costs for traditional health insurance but be aware that HCSM's are not health insurance. They don't have to comply with the consumer protections of the ACA. They can also reject or limit coverage for having pre-existing health issues and can limit how much you'll be reimbursed for your medical costs.

To look for HCSM plans, comparison shop at the three largest providers: SamaritanMinistries.org, MyChristianCare.org and Chministries.org.
